TRIBUTE

It is a pleasure to realize that although Dr. Eggleston retired from active service to the college last year he is still an active part of the life at Hampden-Sydney. It is good to hear his booming "good morning" and it is good to see him on his afternoon walks keeping an alert eye on his beloved trees. It is good to know that Dr. Eggleston will still be known to succeeding generations of students. To retire knowing that you have done a fine work and done it well is a comfort to the spirit, a sense secure that you have run your course with honor; but to retire knowing that your influence will continue as a blessing is a benediction. His innate courtesy, his pride in race, his never failing good breeding are invaluable examples to young men whose questioning natures demand the living inspiration of such qualities.

To the students of Hampden-Sydney Dr. Eggleston has always pointed out that to live a complete life a man must accept seriously the responsibilities placed upon him by condition and necessity, responsibilities which must be accepted both joyfully and devoutly. None is too great to be met confidently and surely if one has donned that sacred armour recommended by Saint Paul. The Kaleidoscope takes this opportunity to pay tribute again to Dr. Eggleston, courtly gentleman, true and faithful Christian.

To William Henry Whiting, Jr., distinguished son of Hampden-Sydney, the staff of the KALEIDOSCOPE pays tribute. They take pride in honoring here his life of invaluable service to this school. Youngest man in the outstanding class of 1880, "serious-minded 'Judge' Whiting," as he was then called, was graduated with valedictory honors. Since then, he has continued his classical studies with equal distinction at the University of Virgnia, Harvard, and Johns Hopkins. So well equipped was he in all branches of liberal arts that during his many years at Hampden-Sydney he has taught Latin, Greek, German, Spanish, history, and mathematics. He retired last summer from head professorship of Latin and German, courses which his exactness and understanding had raised to a place of universal respect.

Dr. A. W. McWhorter, closely associated with Dr. Whiting as one-time professor at Hampden-Sydney, has said of him: "He is an indefatigable worker; a clear and honest thinker; a man of unswerving fidelity to duty—a man who lives his religion modestly, but greatly; a lover of life in all its best implications; a positive and concrete influence always and everywhere for the things that are right; a friend of the sort who will gladly and unreservedly respond to your need at any time; loyal, true, unfailing, and literally overflowing with unfeigned kindness."

SENIOR CLASS HISTORY

How few have been the months since the Class of 1940, as Freshmen, were counting on their fingers the days until June—and summer days away from school! How very, very short the time since, as Sophomores and Juniors, the solemn, dignified Seniors of today were happily anticipating the end of final examinations and the consequent close of another college year!

It is hard for the Senior to realize how much Hampden-Sydney has grown to mean to him in four years. That thing which characterizes Hampden-Sydney is a subtle something—a something which cannot be appreciated from the first. In 1936, as Freshmen, the Class of 1940 felt little of the "Hampden-Sydney spirit;" the next year, as Sophomores, they felt but little more of it; as Juniors it bothered them not at all, though they were coming to realize that there was something about this school which attached itself to them, which they could not and would not let go.

Then, as Seniors, it hit them like a thunderbolt. Returning for their last year at Hampden-Sydney, they began to see into the future—to realize that what had meant most to them for four years would no longer be theirs at the end of the 1939-'40 session. They began to realize the problem of what preceding historians have called "Life." As the time drew near for Commencement in June, they began to count the days they still had at Hampden-Sydney. And they did not want them to pass quickly—.

They looked back. They remembered themselves as careless Freshmen, unwillingly being "Ratted" by Sophomores in the mild Hampden-Sydney manner. They remembered their own revolt in 1936, when, inspired by some high-sounding oratory by upperclassmen, they attempted to throw off the yoke of the Sophomores, only to fail miserably.

They remembered the Freshman class elections—Dick Reid, their first president, who transferred to Annapolis. They remembered Henry Flannagan as their Sophomore prexy, and the turbulent elections of 1938 which elevated Homer Hatten to the presidency of the class. They recalled vividly the Senior class elections in 1939 which resulted in Leigh Hanes becoming Senior class president.

In review before them passed their Sophomore year, when they quelled with the greatest of ease a rebellion much similar to their own of the year previous, and went on to enforce the "Rat" system they themselves had so berated as Freshmen. They recalled an uneventful Junior year in which they played an uneventful role . . .

And they wondered why they wished, in those days for the weeks and months to pass so quickly. Surely, had they known the immense problems which would face them when, after four years, they came finally to the last step, they would have wished time to slip by more slowly.

They realized, but late, what their school meant to them. And they knew they had to leave it.

Before them lay the Future. In it they resolved to be true to the college which held them four short years. And they graduated.

JUNIOR CLASS HISTORY

Sound off, Freshman! (What did that mean?) Praise '40! (What did that mean, and what was '40 anyway?) Sing that laundry list, Rat! (Who ever heard of singing a laundry list, and just who was a Rat?) So went the first few days of the college career of the members of the present Junior class.

Bewildered, homesick, unoriented, the class of '41 presented itself as lambs before the Sophomore lions in the fall of '37. We waited on the upperclassmen, we served them faithfully (if not willingly), and we furnished entertainment for them. Their every request was gratified, thanks to threats of the much propagandized Vigilance Committee.

Finally the wrath of the dreaded V. C. descended upon us and again we were as lambs before our shearers—but our time was coming—we hoped.

Fall lapsed into winter, football gave way to basketball, and spring came, bringing with it baseball, tennis, and Easter vacation. After this holiday, no more "Rat caps"! Oh, happy day! We now began to feel like upperclassmen—a bit premature it is true—but the abandoning of "Rat caps" gave us fresh hope of someday being recognized as human beings.

Came June, examinations, finals, and so on. September loomed on the horizon as a far distant day when we should be full fledged second-year men.

With the advent of mid-September days (1938) we became the most important members of the student body—Sophomores. (If you don't believe the importance of Sophomores, ask one.)

The class of '42 arrived and whereas one year previous we had been lambs, we were now ravenous lions. Some said unfortunately, Morse said fortunately, we tended to let the Freshmen off easy—the lion and the lamb began to lie down together about mid-way through the football season. The novelty of being important soon wore off.

Our Sophomore year passed rapidly as we began to assume positions in student affairs which marked us as rising campus leaders. Spring elections found us filling key-positions which had seemed very remote and far off one short year before.

Again finals neared and the class of '41 disbanded to again unite in September of this year—Juniors.

This year we looked on disdainfully at the childishness of the Sophomores as they pestered the poor miserable Freshmen. Our days of similar enjoyment seemed distant indeed.

The year of 1939 wore itself out and the first month of the new year found Hampden-Sydney blanketed by the largest snowfall recorded for decades. Even exams were postponed while the Hill folk endeavored to dig the community out from under the deluge.

Following closely on the heels of winter, spring took over and brought with her spring elections. Members of the class of '41 became heads of every important student organization. Juniors began to look forward to their Senior year and the scholastic embryos of September 1937 had finally arrived at the threshold of their period of metamorphosis.

SOPHOMORES

SOPHOMORE CLASS HISTORY

Fall of '39 disclosed a rather amusing study in psychology. Cars pull up in front of Cushing and Venable. A student returning to school gets out, looks around breathing the air as though it were free for the first time. Then by the expression on his face we can see that a new idea has dawned upon this emancipated man. Throwing back his head he bellows, "Frrrrrreshman—" and before long a timid soul comes to his side and begins to haul his baggage into the building. If you haven't guessed, we will identify this individual. He is the emancipated Freshman—the Sophomore —a member of the class of '42. He has just discovered that Hampden-Sydney isn't such a bad place after all.

He forgets entirely that he was once a poor Freshman. He remembers only that he is now in the promised land, that his is the lot of a Sophomore and that he can dish it out instead of having to take it.

And he loses no time. The night air is ever and anon broken by howls of pain, resounding "thwacks," and that blood-chilling yell that every member of the lower class has learned to dread, "Frrrrrreshman."

The first Sophomore class meeting saw the passage of the first Emancipation Proclamation. Freshmen were campused for a month. Shortly after the half, the class met again to elect Thurman, Trinkle, and Hay, president, vice-president, and secretary, respectively.

Another episode in the life of a Hampden-Sydney man, the Sophomore year, is drawing to a close. We're attempting to look on the Sophomore attitude toward the Freshmen as rather childish, in order that we may attain the dignity becoming of a Junior which we hope to be next year—socially, at least.

J. S. PANCAKE,

The Hampden-Sydney Press Club originated in the fall of 1935 through the efforts of Coach C. A. Bernier, Dean George L. Walker, and Professor D. R. Reveley. Since its inception this organization has done a successful piece of work in coordinating the publicity efforts of the college. The work of this group has been highly complimented by the Associated Press, who attributed to its activity a uniformity and consistency in news from the college that was decidedly absent before its formation. It has the distinction of being the first organization of its kind in the state, and offers students here a unique opportunity in applied journalism. Each year, in June, the senior members of the Press Club are awarded gold keys as a token of appreciation of their services rendered to the college.

In 1824 the Chi Phi Fraternity was founded at Princeton University, and March 2, 1867, established its Epsilon Chapter at Hampden-Sydney College. It thus has the distinction of being the oldest fraternity on the campus. The Chackett is the official organ of this fraternity, and its colors are scarlet and blue.

The Sigma Chi Fraternity was founded at Miami University in 1855, and Sigma Sigma Chapter was issued its charter in 1872. This Chapter became inactive, however, in 1902, but due to an increase in the small student enrollment was revived in 1931. The official organ is the Magazine of Sigma Chi and the secret organ is the Sigma Chi Bulletin. The colors are blue and old gold, and the white rose is the fraternity flower.

In 1867 the Kappa Sigma Fraternity was established at the University of Virginia, and just sixteen years after this date Upsilon Chapter was introduced at Hampden-Sydney—1883. The Caduceus is the official publication, and the Star and Crescent is the internal organ. The fraternity colors are scarlet, green and white, and the flower is the lily-of-the-valley.

The Pi Kappa Alpha Fraternity was organized at the University of Virginia in 1868. Iota Chapter, which made its appearance on this campus in 1885, was host four years later for the fraternity re-organization. Their official organ is the Shield and Diamond and their secret organ is the Dagger and Key. The fraternity colors are garnet and old gold and its flower is the lily-of-the-valley.

The Theta Chi Fraternity was established at Norwich University in 1856. However, it was not until around sixty years later that this fraternity instigated its Nu Chapter on the Hampden-Sydney campus—1914. This chapter built the first and only fraternity house to occupy the right-hand side of fraternity row. The official organ is the Rattle. The fraternity flower is the red carnation.

The Lambda Chi Alpha Fraternity was established at Boston College in 1909. In 1939 Theta Kappa Nu Fraternity merged with Lambda Chi Alpha, instigating its Kappa Eta Zeta Chapter here which was formerly Virginia Beta Chapter of Theta Kappa Nu. The official organ is the Cross and Crescent and its secret organ is the Inescrutcheon. The fraternity colors are purple, gold and green and the fraternity flower is the white rose.

This house was burned down in the fall of 1939. Plans are being made to rebuild.

ATHLETICS

Keep coming back for all they've got and take it with a grin,
When disappointment trips you up or failure barks your shin.
Keep coming back—and if at last
you lose the game of right,
Let those who whipped you know,
at least, they, too, have had a fight.
For when the One Great Scorer comes to write against your name,
He marks—not that you won or lost, but how you played the game.

THE SEASON

Four good games won, five hard ones lost constituted the record of the successful 1939 Hampden-Sydney football squad. The five games that fell on the wrong side of the ledger were all lost to teams representing schools much larger than Death Valley boasts, while among colleges of its own size the Tigers easily ruled the roost.

A smooth-running offense, and a defense that stopped the best of opposition at times were the result of a conscientious coaching job by Herman E. "Red" Smith, head coach, and E. J. "Goof" Bowyer, backfield tutor. Relatively speaking, the squad was not lacking in good material, but one really outstanding back would have made a difference in the team's record.

September 5 at Death Valley found 30 experienced men returning for early practice. Even though a new style of play starting from a balanced line and with a single wing-back had to be learned, and in spite of the fact that a tough 10-game schedule was on the hook, 16 lettermen looked good to Tiger supporters. Coaches Smith, Bowyer, and Reveley lost no time in preparing for the opener in Charlottesville on September 23.

Virginia, 26; H.-S., 0

Seven thousand saw the Tigers' light brigade meet a superior band of Virginia Cavaliers in the traditional opening game for both elevens. The Garnet and Gray showed flashes of great offensve power, but these flashes were spasmodic.

About four minutes after the game started the jittery Tiger backfield fumbled, and the Wahoos recovered and converted for six points. After this Virginia unfolded a potent and deceptive running attack which proved too much for the Tigers, although Syd Walden and Ed Null, backs, and Bob Eason and Frank Brown, linesmen, played valiant games. "Ham" Flannagan suffered a broken arm and was lost for the rest of the season.

Maryland, 26; H.-S., 0

The next week, the Tigers played their sorrowest game of the year in going down before Maryland's "Terrible Terps" at College Park. The winners mixed a potent pass attack with some flashy end runs to run up a heavy score.

Dartmouth, 34; H.-S., 6

Swinging north for their third hard game, the Tigers tackled mighty Dartmouth, and earned the respect of the Ivy-Leaguers with as spirited a fight as any Death Valley eleven has ever put up. Press accounts were long and loud in their praise of the Tigers' spirit. The Dartmouth paper stated in an editorial that the team was the hardest-fighting team to play there for many years, and that every Hampden-Sydney undergraduate should feel proud of the fine stand the Garnet and Gray made.

Henry Flannagan plunged over from the 7-yard line in the first quarter for the Tigers' score. According to the N. Y. Times, Dartmouth was outplayed during the first half, and part of the third quarter, but in the last period Ben Soyars, Maynard Johnson, Frank Sullivan, A. T. Howard, Earl Smith, and Red Jennings had to be assisted from the field. "Each had his applause from the stands." Halftime score: Dartmouth, 7; H.-S., 6. Third quarter: Dartmouth, 13; H.-S., 6.

H.-S., 32; Guilford, 0

The travel-worn team received a spirited station welcome on their return, and prepared for the Quakers who were routed the following Saturday in the first home game. Null and Walden led the attack, personally ringing up 11 of the Tigers' 26 first downs. Flannagan, Berry, Holmes, Hay, Schultz, and Miller looked hot as H.-S. gained 444 yards rushing to 24, held the visitors to zero first downs.

William and Mary, 26; H.-S., 0

A confident Tiger team "outstatisticed" the rising Indians, but took a third sound beating by the same score. H.-S. gained 182 yards to 159, but it was all between the 20-yard lines. Flannagan, Murdock, Johnson, and Sullivan led the team which Coach Carl Voyles described as "apparently just as powerful and well-balanced" as his eleven. The breaks went wrong.

H.-S., 26; Delaware, 6

Raiding the roost of Delaware's Blue Hens, H.-S. managed to get on the right side of the 26 count to run up win number two. Flashy Ed Null and Syd Walden sparked the running attack, and Null made headlines with a beautiful 99-yard return of a Hen kickoff in the second quarter. Bob Eason, Howard, Soyars, and Sullivan stood out in the line. Freshmen Miller and Sprye made two of the Tigers' touchdowns.

The next week, the Wofford game was cancelled by mutual consent.

H.-S., 14; Wofford, 0

Once again it was Walden and Null who paced the Tigers, with Mann and Sprye helping out in the backfield, while the entire line played well. Tiger fans were pleased with the boys' second home showing.

Richmond, 26; H.-S., 7

Facing the highly touted Spiders who boasted a bevy of backs and a line that had not been scored through all year, a Tiger team that would not recognize defeat roared back on the field in the second half to run Richmond's undefeated team all over the place. Richmond had a 26-point lead at half-time, and Tiger fans moaned low in their seats.

But the Tigers came back. They ripped the heavy line to shreds on three sustained drives, the last of which was climaxed when Syd Walden cut off right tackle in the fourth quarter, sifted through the secondary, and scored standing up. Placement was good.

Playing their hearts out for H.-S. were Eason, Soyars, Howard, Brown, Schultz, Sullivan, and Younce in the line, and Walden, Flannagan, Null, and Holmes in the backfield. Yards gained rushing: H.-S., 183; U. R., 142.

H.-S., 12; Randolph-Macon, 0

Homecoming, 3,000 shivering fans, Randolph-Macon, journey's end—all set the stage for the grand finale. Coaches Smith and Bowyer had succeeded in bringing the squad to a "well poised condition," and although press reports favored the Jackets, the Tigers knew that the 10-year jinx would be broken.

The game moved slowly at first as the gallant Jackets baffled the Tiger offense with a 7-man line that shifted cleverly; but "breaks" were manufactured in the second half that led to scores. Total yardage: H.-S., 127; R.-M., 30. First downs: 9 to 1.

Frank Sullivan, acting captain for the day, played an excellent game at center and was afterwards elected permanent captain for the 1939 team.

Concluding their gridiron careers were the following other linesmen: Bob Eason, whose last four games were superb; Virgil May, out with a bad knee after Dartmouth; A. T. Howard and Ben Soyars, the "fat boy" combination who starred at tackle; Maynard Johnson, outstanding tackle for four years; Bennett Barnes, hard-blocking back converted to a guard; Homer Hatten, giant tackle and alternate to Soyars; Bob Mitchell, faithful understudy to Sullivan; Ham Flannagan, injured against Virginia.

Backs going were: Syd Walden, third team all-state;; Ed Null, open-field ace and punt returner deluxe; Henry Flannagan, fiery little "workhorse of the team."

Gus Mayes, hard-working senior manager and capable curator of the Tiger togs, also concluded an efficient service.

The '39 Tigers will not soon be forgotten.

He made it!

FRESHMAN FOOTBALL

The 1939 Hampden-Sydney freshmen footballers experienced their most successful season in many years, as they won two, lost three, and tied one. Individual stars cropped out in more than one position, giving a somewhat cheerful outlook for Coach Smith's outfit next fall.

Starting the season off, the Bengals lost a close one to the state prep champs, Fork Union, 6-0, at Fork Union. The game was bitterly fought on both sides. John Dunn, Tom Miller, Zeke Carter, linesmen, and Earl Smith and Harold Hinkle, backs, played against their former teammates, and it was only on a break that the Cadets copped the honors.

Returning home, the frosh tied McGuires of Richmond 0-0 the next week. This game saw the Tigers outrush the Macks and threaten to score several times, but they lacked the punch when inside the 20-yard lines.

Entertaining the Cadets next week, the frosh were definitely "off" and took a 33-0 lacing from the revamped Cadet eleven. Hinkle starred for the Tiglets, both offensively and defensively. Every yearling saw action.

Coach Reveley's charges traveled to Woodbury Forest the next week, where they lost a tough game 7 to 0. Woodbury scored on a line buck after recovering a fumble, and then clung to their lead. The Tiglets were without the services of Dunn, Miller, Carter, Hinkle, and Smith, who accompanied the varsity to Dartmouth. John Harlow, Wiley Umstead, Red Amick, and Gus Millar were the iron-men of the game, playing the entire 60 minutes.

Hitting their stride for the first time of the season, the Bengals shattered the Hill-toppers of Glass High 26-19 in the Hill City. The losers were state champs, and had not been defeated since 1937, but the Tiglets were too hot to be downed. Lead by Walter Sprye, "will-o-the-wisp" halfback, the Bengals played their best game of the entire season. Hinkle, Smith, and Whitehead completed the backfield, and the line was at its complete strength for the first time.

Hampden-Sydney started off in the first minute as Sprye sidestepped, zig-zagged, twisted, and hurdled his way 61 yards for a touchdown. On the second play after the kickoff, Hinkle whisked down the field 71 yards behind beautiful blocking for the Tiglets' second score. The losers counted next, and then the freshmen ran across two more scores to put the game on ice. The line play of Guy DeMuro, Miller, Strader, and Millar was effective, while the backs were running circles around the ex-champs.

Returning to their home field, the Bengals closed their season with a convincing 25-0 victory over Hargrave M. A., proving to their supporters that the Glass High game was no flash in the pan. Stringfellow scored first on a 47-yard dash off right tackle. A pass to Millar put the ball in position for Whitehead to make the score read 13 to 0, shortly afterwards. Miller whipped down the field 40 yards on a neatly-executed end-around to make the score 19-0. The final freshman score came in the third as Sprye tossed the oval 30 yards to Miller, who waltzed the seven yards to pay dirt. On a pass interception by Sprye, and four running plays, the Tiglets reached their opponents' one-yard line and were knocking at the door when the game ended.

The season as a whole was successful, and in Sprye, Hinkle, Miller, Millar, Dunn, Umstead, and others, some good prospects for the varsity were uncovered. The loss of Earl Smith, star punter, will be felt next year.

BASKETBALL

ELMO BERRY
Captain

Speed and scrap made up for lack of height on the 1940 Hampden-Sydney basketball squad, which, sparked by a nucleus of Juniors, won ten out of eighteen games played this season.

Inevitably let down after playing on last year's crack quint—who won seventeen games in a schedule of twenty-two—returning lettermen rallied around Captain Elmo Berry and lanky center Syd Weed. Berry was pivot man for the defense, and he and Weed led the season's scoring with 136 and 148 points.

Murdock, set shot artist who placed third in the scoring race with 111 points, held down the guard post opposite Berry. Van Meter, Sullivan, and Dillard, who recovered with phenomenal speed from a pre-season attack of appendicitis, alternated at forwards.

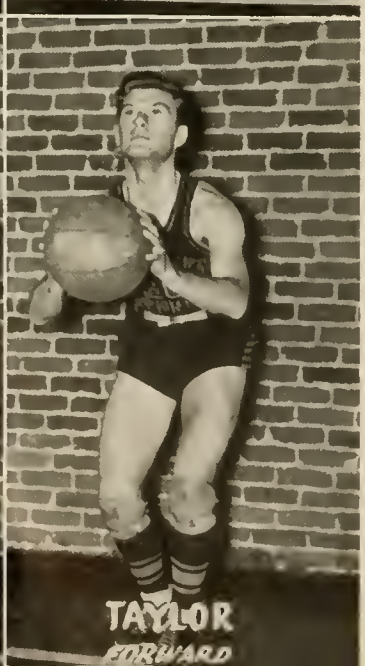

Transfer DeMuro and "Chick" Tasker saw considerable service. Dogged by injuries, Patterson played more at the beginning of the season than later.

The team's floor work was smooth throughout the season; their long-range shooting was in many cases exceptional. It was essentially lack of height and resulting inefficicacy under the basket that spelled defeat in the minority of games that Hampden-Sydney lost.

After only four days of practice, the courtmen opened their season by trouncing Lynchburg convincingly 48-37. Syd Weed hit his stride early to chalk up 19 points.

Captained by last year's ace forward Taylor Reveley, a team from Union Theological Seminary visited Hampden-Sydney four days later. Local fans cheered the popular Reveley as much as they did the home team. Hampden-Sydney won 51-25.

A visit to Millhiser Gym December 12 resulted in the Tigers' first loss. A powerful Richmond University quintet, already touting themselves for state champions, walloped Hampden-Sydney 46-22.

The day before Christmas holidays saw the Tigers at Durham, North Carolina, where they succumbed to the Blue Devils of Duke, runners-up in the Southern Conference Tournament.

Together with Blue Devil guard Price, Weed took high-scoring honors for the evening with twelve points, but Duke substitutes scored freely to rout Hampden-Sydney 59-28.

After Christmas the Tigers broke into the win column again when they invaded Bridgewater College. Taking advantage of 30 free tosses, they outscored the boys from the Valley 32-30.

Hampden-Sydney played fast, scrappy ball in Charlottesville on January 10, but Virginia's big boys capitalized on their height to win 38-24. Harmon, six foot three all-state forward, sank ten of the Cavaliers' field goals. The local team, hampered as always by shortness, resorted to set shots, of which Berry and Murdock sank seven between them.

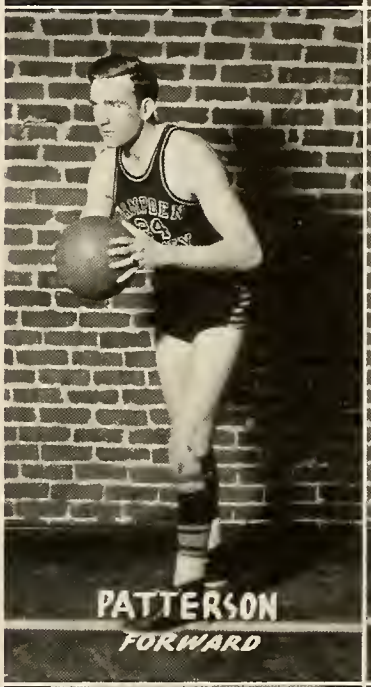

A return game with Bridgewater was easy meat for the Tigers.

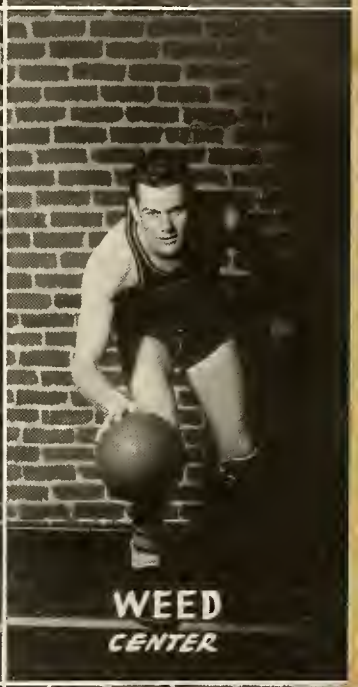

On January 16, Coach Bernier took his team to Roanoke College, now minus the services of the champion "five smart boys." Things looked bad at the half, when Roanoke amassed a 21-15 lead. But in a big second period Tiger forward Frank Sullivan came back to score 13 points and pace his team to a 49-40 victory.

The next day the Tigers visited Blacksburg, where they lost to a much improved V. P. I. squad 18-33. None of the lethargic Hampden-Sydney cagers scored much while Tech's Ingram was ringing up more than the margin of victory—18 points.

In a new high school gym in Petersburg, Syd Weed went on another scoring spree the night of February 2 and paced the Tigers to a 40-30 victory in their first encounter with Randolph-Macon.

Home again the next night, Hampden-Sydney dropped a game to Virginia Medical college by the distressing score 35-36. The unbelieving Tigers saw the Medicos erase a five-point lead and forge ahead—all in the last two minutes seventeen seconds of the game.

In a return game with Roanoke College at Hampden-Sydney the Tigers repeated their former procedure, staged a second-half comeback to outpoint the visitors 40-34.

A return game with the Richmond Spiders gave local fans their biggest thrill of the season. Richmond scored quickly, only to have Hampden-Sydney come back in the third quarter and jump into the lead 22-20. "Buddy" Murdock was flipping in beautiful long shots from all angles. Each team made 15 field goals, but Richmond's free-throw artists sank nine out of eleven charity tosses to give them a five-point win at 39-34. Gallant Syd Weed sprained his ankle early in the contest, came back all taped up to play nice ball.

With Weed, Patterson and DeMuro benched, the Tigers lost to William and Mary at Williamsburg 31-42. Murdock led the scoring with 12 points.

Back in the winning column again, Hampden-Sydney swamped Lynchburg on February 11 by a 47-35 score.

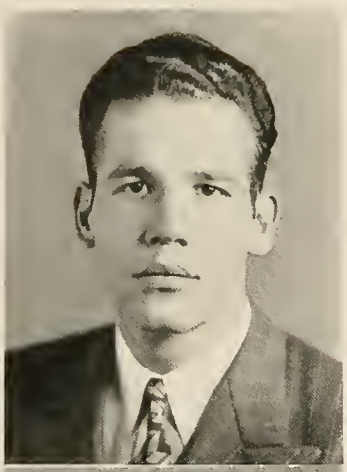

The Tigers defeated Randolph-Macon a second time in their last home game. Never topped after the half, Hampden-Sydney coasted to an easy victory, 30-22.

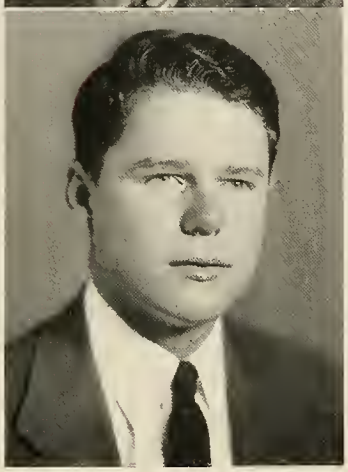

At Lynchburg a week later, Hampden-Sydney again trampled the hapless Hornets. Les Dillard, senior forward whose game had improved steadily as the season went on, scored eleven points.

Last game of the season was with Randolph-Macon at Ashland. Converting only eight of eighteen free throws, the luckless Tigers lost 34-36 to a determined Jacket quintet.

And the Hampden-Sydney 1940 basketball season became past history.

But with Berry, Weed and Murdock returning and with such able frosh prospects as Sprye, Miller and Buchanan, Tiger cagers look forward rather than backward.

BASEBALL

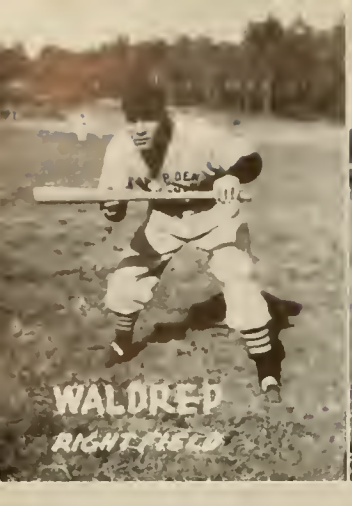

Hampden-Sydney's veteran 1940 baseball team came through the first half of scheduled competition with a record of six wins, two losses and three games were rained out. All games in this portion of the season were played either on the home diamond or on Wilck's Field in Farmville.

Incessant rain placed a damper on Tiger hopes as the annual opening game with Colby College was rained out. A postponement until the latter part of the week brought little satisfaction when the scheduled double header had to be cancelled again because of unfavorable weather.

Playing under difficult weather conditions, the Tigers opened the season in rare style, defeating Drexel, 9-0, behind the two-hit pitching of Wood and Hutchinson. Bengal batters, led by Eason with three for five, gathered 16 hits off Drexel hurlers.

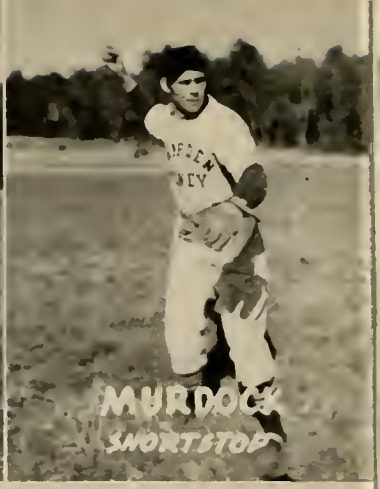

Weed had a perfect day at the plate against a fighting Delaware nine in leading the Tigers to an 8-2 winning score. Comstock and Duncan pitched eight-hit ball for the Bengals.

Tiger bats exploded in the faces of a team from Haverford College for the third Yankee defeat of the week as a seventh-inning rally brought nine runs and a 16-6 victory. Schultz collected five hits in six trips at bat to lead the team. Duncan, Gregory and Hutchinson allowed 11 hits.

Hampden-Sydney's first taste of defeat came the following week when Wesleyan hammered out a 5-2 victory over the overconfident Tigers. Weed and Hay led the hitting department with two for four. Wood and Hutchinson held the victors to nine hits.

Awakened by the sting of defeat, the team stepped into the win column again five days later to beat V. P. I. 7-5 on Wilck's Field. Comstock, Hutchinson and Wood handled the mound duty.

Tasker's circuit clout started a sixth-inning rally that pulled the game out of the fire and gave the Bengals a 6-2 victory over Lynchburg on the Hill City diamond. Hutchinson held the Hornets to five hits during the game and Shelton led Tiger batting with two for four.

Bad weather again intervened as the Medico game to be played on Death Valley was cancelled because of severe cold and rain.

Overconfidence and numerous errors proved costly as the Bengals lost to Bridgewater 6-2 in Farmville.

Hutchinson hurled a two-hit shutout against Lynchburg on Wilck's Field as the team collected 13 hits off three opposing pitchers to win 10-0. Hornet batters were held hitless until late in the eighth inning. Tasker and Gregory hit three for four.

RESUME

An even break in six dual meets and a victory in the Chesapeake Conference meet was the record of the 1939 edition of the Hampden-Sydney track team. Coach David C. "Ick" Reveley's crew was led by Willard Craft, a track team in himself as he excelled in the discus, shot, high and low hurdles, and high jump.

The Tigers traveled to Richmond for their first meet, where they went down before the Spiders' superiority in the field events, 83½-42½. Captain Craft was the individual star of the meet with a 136' 4" heave of the discus and 14½ points in all.

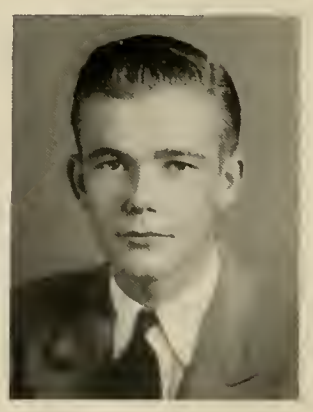

The next week the Tigers lost narrowly to the Wolfpack of N. C. State 66 2-3 to 59 1-3, minus the services of Craft. The Tigers were strong in the running events and needed only Craft's sure points to cop the meet.

On a rainy day most unconducive to good performances, the cindermen proved to be worse mudders than the Deacons of Wake Forest to the tune of 72½-53½. The meet was in Death Valley.

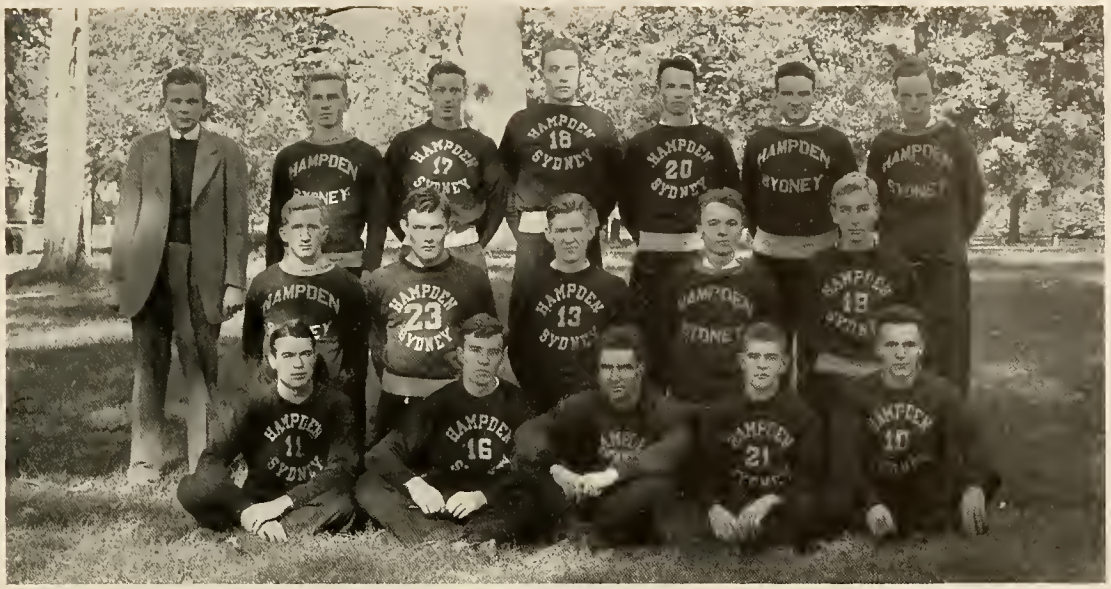

The following week the Bengals proved slightly inhospitable to Guilford's Quakers as they defeated them decisively enough, 92-34, at home.

The first week in May found the Tigers in the Hornets' nest in Lynchburg, as they subdued the attack of their opponents by the conclusive margin, 85 5-6 to 40 1-6. The winners captured 11 firsts, despite the fact that Craft was still entering only one event, the discus, and that with a still bad ankle. Wood barely missed a new school record as he high-jumped 6' 2".

The next week saw the Reveleymen at Ashland in the last dual meet of the year, taking the Jackets for a closely-contested ride, 68½-57½, as the meet was tied until the last two events were run.

Closing the season, the tracksters took the conference title for the fourth straight year, by outscoring the Jackets of Randolph-Macon 50-47 1-3. Highlight of the meet was the broad jump final in which the Tigers needed a second to win and Syd Walden did 10 inches better than ever before to edge out two Jackets.

The team this year will be strong in running events as Co-Captains Bobby Trice and Syd Walden, Virgil May, Hoskins Sclater, Bill Boyd, Dewey Mann, Bill Armes, Bill Baker, Elmo Berry, all lettermen, and a couple of promising freshmen lead the way; but the weights are woefully weak without a letterman at all.

The 1940 schedule lists home meets with Richmond, Lynchburg and Randolph-Macon and foreign encounters with Guilford, Wake Forest, and the Norfolk Division of William and Mary, and the conference meet in Lynchburg, of course.

Manager Craddock, Taylor, Dunlop, Engle, Fulton, Barnes, Bullock.

GOLF

Captain

The 1940 golf team led by Captain Barnes was definitely the best team that Hampden-Sydney has had in its history, and one that the whole school should be proud of.

The year's record shows a total of nine matches won and eleven matches lost, three of which were played with a three-man team because of Dunlop's sudden sickness.

After three wins on the Boonsboro course in Lynchburg the Tiger foursome gathered their bags and journeyed to the south to enter the Southern Intercollegiate Matches in Athens, Georgia. Before the tournament matches the team met with Furman and Georgia. Against Furman they were victorious by a 12-6 card but the next day Georgia proved to be too strong by defeating their visitors 18-0. In the tourney Barnes won his flight and considering the competition as a whole, Hampden-Sydney showed up well.

The following week Barnes and Engle stood out in defeating William and Mary 16-2 at Lynchburg. Following the match with the Indians, the Tigers lost a close one to Washington and Lee and defeated V. M. I. decisively. The remainder of the season found the Tigers victorious in two and losers in three of their matches.

Prospects for next year seem bright as only one golfer among the first six ranking ones in school, Bennett Barnes, will not be back.

TENNIS

This year's tennis team was one of the best teams since the days when tennis was a major sport in Tiger land.

The Tiger netmen, early in the season, journeyed to Lexington and lost a close match to V. M. I. by the score of 5-4.

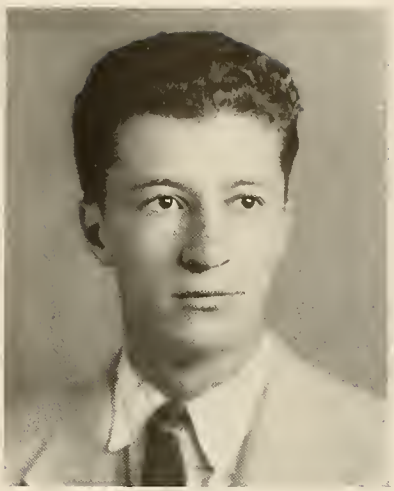

The Tigers experienced their first taste of victory later when they took Bridgewater 7-2 on the Death Valley courts and then defeated Lynchburg the following day 6-0.

The Hampden-Sydney netmen, later on in the season, defeated their old rivals, Randolph-Macon, 6-3 on the windy Ashland courts.

The following week a flashy Tiger team downed the William and Mary Extension of Norfolk 7-0, allowing the visiting team only one set in the whole match.

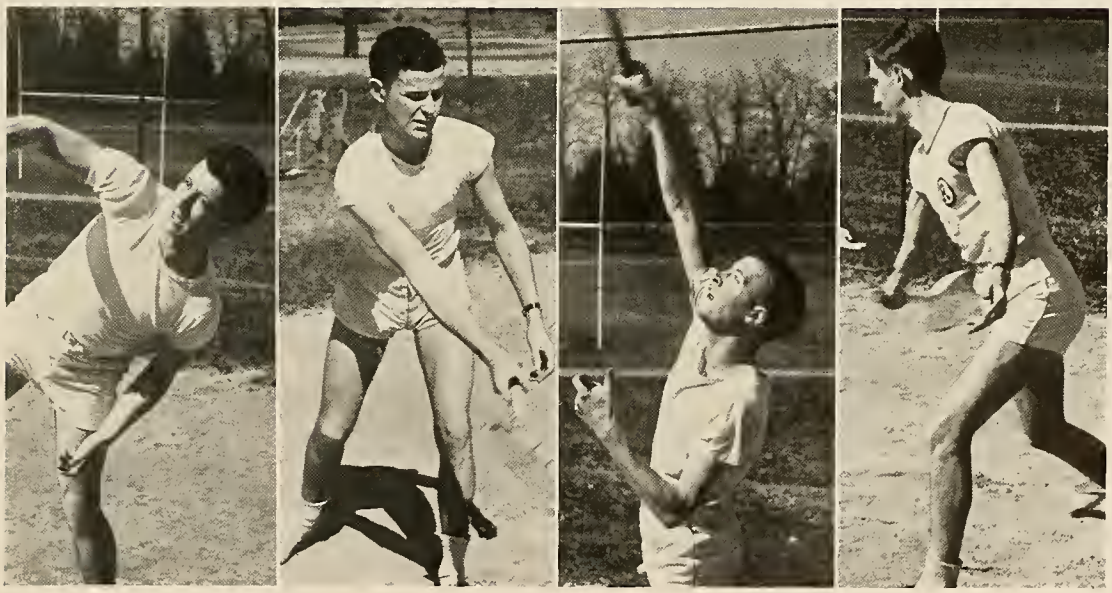

Captain Richards, Allison, Paist, White, and Smith (who had an unblemished record in singles this year) furnished plenty of competition to our opponents throughout the year.

The netmen will be thrown for a loss next year with the loss of Richards through graduation and the loss by transfer of Smith and Gibson.

WHERE SHALL WE BE?

Where shall we be a thousand years from now?
Oh, ask the moon, Beloved, she who sees
Leaves and the shadow of leaves slip from the bough,
Who walks the valley with her silver keys . . .
Where shall we be? Wherever there are stars,
And lovers for this moon to gaze upon,
And dawn swings up with laughing Lochinvars,
And all the long, dark, frozen days are gone.

Time will no longer munch his crust of lies,
You will be more than dust articulate,
And I shall follow rainbows in your eyes
Till all the ancient ships with golden freight
Glide softly into harbors, late at night,—
A thousand years . . . after they've sunk from sight.
